RESEARCH

Police Act Drafting Committee (PADC)

BPR&D had inducted Dr. Arvind Verma, Professor, Indiana University (USA), former IPS Officer and Smt. Rina Mitra, IPS (MP: 83), IG, CID, Bhopal as consultants for generating inputs for matters under consideration by Police Act Drafting Committee (PADC) constituted by govt. of India. Inputs, so far, given by them reflect their comprehensive understanding of Police working in democratic societies and complexity of Indian Society. They have given the following comments:

“ For all police practitioners and researchers the drafting of a new police act for the country is a momentous event. After many years and concentrated efforts the government agreed to set up a committee to propose a new police act for the country. We are grateful to DG, BPR&D for giving us such a wonderful opportunity to participate in designing a new police system for India and making it into a professional organization that works with the people for achieving their democratic aspirations. DG, BPR&D, Dr. Kiran Bedi is herself engaged in rejuvenating the organization and making police research a vehicle for change. It has been a rewarding experience for us to witness her efforts and have the opportunity to be part of intense interactions and debates that she has initiated. We have been privileged to have worked with her and other eminent scholars, police officers and personalities during this time period.”
